HEROES AND HOLIDAYS.

By Rev. W. F. CRAFTS. International S. S. Lessons of 1883. An illustrated story-book. For children and mothers. For teachers and preachers.

52 short story sermons for children, by Rev. R. S. Storrs, D.D., Rev. Dr. Newton, Rev. W. F. Crafts, Rev. J. G. Merrill, and 18 others. 12mo, 454 pp., 40 illustrations. Price, in 2 vols., paper, 60 cents; 1 vol., cloth, handsomely bound, suitable for Christmas presents, $1.25. (Ready December 6.)

NOW READY:

THE LESSON IN THE CLOSET—1883.

By CHARLES F. DEEMS, D.D. A book for all Sunday-schools. 20 cts.

It contains the revised version of the lesson for each Sunday of the first six months of 1883, with injected annotations, accompanied by a devout meditation on each passage. It is intended to be spiritually helpful to teachers and scholars.

NEW TESTAMENT HELPS.

Edited by Rev. W. F. CRAFTS. 20 cts.

Best helps from the costly Teachers' Bible of BAGSTER, SPOTTISWOODE, and OXFORD, with numerous other lists and tables by Dr. Abbott, George F. Pentecost, and the editor, thus giving what could otherwise not be obtained for less than $30.

AN AMERICAN EDITION OF

BERTRAM'S HOMILETIC ENCYCLOPÆDIA,

Being a Hand-book of Practical Divinity, containing 5094 Illustrations in Theology and Morals, and being also a Homiletical Commentary, throwing light on more than 4000 Texts of Scripture. Price reduced from $3.75 to $2.50.

This great work is a storehouse from which the preacher, Bible-class leader, and teacher can draw most copiously. Says the London Literary World: "No book of illustrations is worthy to be compared with it."

In the 900 octavo pages are gathered over 5000 choice extracts from the most eminent preachers and writers. The subjects are arranged alphabetically, and each is subdivided homiletically.

AMERICAN TESTIMONIALS.

Boston Congregationalist.—"Nearest to our ideal of what such a cyclopædia ought to be of all the works of the kind which we have seen."

Boston Zion's Herald.—"This stout octavo, with its crowded pages, presents short, clear, and impressive utterances from the leading religious writers."

N. Y. Christian Advocate.—"Stands at the head of similar publications."

N. Y. Observer.—"No one is likely to overestimate the influence of such a rich collection in a place where it is very difficult or even impossible to command the works of the best religious authors. For many it must necessarily serve as a library of reference, and a cabinet of gems."

Baltimore Independent Methodist.—"Spurgeon calls it a 'Golden treasury'; the Edinburgh Review pronounces it 'most serviceable to students.' We endorse these high opinions. The publishers deserve a large patronage for putting this book within the reach of American buyers, in such good shape at such a cheap price."

FUNK & WAGNALLS, 10 & 12 Dey St., New York.

NEW BOOKS.

EMERSON AT HOME AND ABROAD.

By MONCURE D. CONWAY. 1 vol., 12mo, $1.50.

This book is the work of one who was personally well acquainted with Emerson for nearly thirty years, and with the eminent persons (Hawthorne, Thoreau, and others), who in that time surrounded him at Concord; it reviews the personal and general history of the so-called "Transcendental" movement in America; and it contains various letters by Emerson not before published, as well as personal recollections of his lectures and conversations.

SHORT SAYINGS OF FAMOUS MEN,

WITH HISTORICAL AND EXPLANATORY NOTES.

By S. ARTHUR BENT, A.M. 1 vol., 8vo. Uniform with "Familiar Allusions," $3.

A work somewhat supplementary in its scope to "FAMILIAR QUOTATIONS" and "FAMILIAR ALLUSIONS," and equally indispensable to students, writers, and libraries. It gives a collection of short, sententious sayings of all times, such as have passed into language and are constantly referred to, but, not having been originally written in books, are not to be found in other books of reference. A short sketch of each speaker and the circumstances attending each remark is also given. A copious and accurate index completes the usefulness of the work.

NANTUCKET SCRAPS:

Or, The Experiences of an Off-Islander, in Season and out of Season, among a Peculiar People. By MRS. JANE G. AUSTIN. 1 vol., 16mo, $1.50.

A piquant chronicle of the peculiarities and drolleries of the inhabitants of "The Purple Isle," the secluded land of noble and antique virtues and old-time manners and traditions

THE LAMBS:

A Burlesque Tragedy; A Satire on Wall Street. By ROBERT GRANT, author of "Confessions of a Frivolous Girl," "The Little Tin Gods on Wheels," etc. Illustrated, $1.

The cover is of flexible paper, richly illuminated in colors, with a fanciful and typical design. In this burlesque tragedy, Mr. Grant proves once more his claim to the "peculiar witty touch," for which James T. Fields gave him credit, and justifies J. Boyle O'Reilly's verdict that he is "among the keenest of our social critics."

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co., BOSTON.

[READY THIS WEEK:A NEW "NO NAME."
LITTLE SISTER.

A Novel. Being the Second in the Third Series of No Name Novels. A very charming story, which reads like a transcript of real life. 16mo, $1.

PLISH AND PLUM.

From the German of WILLIAM BUSCH, author of "Max and Maurice," by CHARLES T. BROOKS. With one hundred illustrations. 12mo, cloth, $1.

This is a genuine split-your-side-with-laughter book, quite as good as "Max and Maurice."

SUNSHINE IN THE SOUL.

By the Editor of "Quiet Hours." Second Series. 32mo, cloth, red edges, uniform with "Sunshine in the Soul," First Series, 50 cents. BOTH SERIES in one volume, cloth, red edges, 75 cents; limp calf, gilt, $2.50.

NEXT WEEK:STORIES OF DISCOVERY.

By E. E. HALE. Uniform with "Stories of War," "Stories of the Sea," and "Stories of Adventure." 16mo, cloth, $1.

PHYLLIS BROWNE.

A Story. By FLORA SHAW, author of "Castle Blair" and "Hector." One vol., illustrated, uniform with those popular books, $1.

RECOLLECTIONS OF DANTE GABRIEL ROSSETTI.

By T. HALL CAINE. With portrait. Crown 8vo, cloth, $3.

"Likely to stimulate rather than satisfy public curiosity concerning one of the most interesting and remarkable figures belonging to the present generation—a book that must survive," says the London Athenæum.

DEC. 13th:A COMPANION TO "THE LIGHT OF ASIA."*PEARLS OF THE FAITH;

Or, ISLAM'S ROSARY. Being the ninety-nine beautiful names of Allah. By EDWIN ARNOLD, author of "The Light of Asia." 16mo, cloth, 300 pages, $1.

Says the Author in his Preface: "I have thus at length finished the Oriental Trilogy which I designed. In my 'Indian Song of Songs' I sought to transfer to English poetry a subtle and lovely Sanskrit idyl of the Hindu theology. In my 'Light of Asia' I related the story and displayed the gentle and far-reaching doctrines of that great Hindoo prince who founded Buddhism. I have tried to present here, in the simple, familiar, and credulous, but earnest spirit and manner of Islām—and from its own points of view—some of the thoughts and beliefs of the followers of the noble Prophet of Arabia."

 NOTICE TO THE TRADE.—"Pearls of the Faith" is published simultaneously here and in England by arrangement with Mr. Arnold. To prevent disappointment the trade are solicited to send in early orders for a supply to

NOTES IN SEASON.

HENRY HOLT & Co. issue "English Colonies in America," by J. A. Doyle. The volume is devoted to Virginia, Maryland, and the Carolinas, and while forming a distinct work in itself is intended as an installment toward a complete history of the English colonies in America during their period of dependence on the mother country.

A. D. F. RANDOLPH & Co. will publish at once "The Outermost Rim and Beyond," by Charles Van Norden, a little work written for the purpose of encouraging and strengthening the doubter and the faint-hearted in the midst of the perils which beset the cause of religion. They have also nearly ready a volume of sermons by Bishop Thorold, the author of "The Gospel of Christ." The sermons were delivered to young people, and are on personal, practical topics.

JOHN WILEY & SONS have ready "Ruskin's Poems," now first collected and edited, and a new edition of Ruskin's popular fairy tale, "The King of the Golden River." They also issue "American Foundry Practice," by Thos. D. West, a practical iron-moulder and foundry foreman; the "Key and Supplement" to Prof. De Volson Wood's "Elementary Mechanics," and "Picturesque Scotland," an attractive gift-book for the holidays, dealing with the scenery and history of "the land o' cakes," by Rev. Andrew Carter.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have just published the revised edition of Holmes' "Autocrat of the Breakfast-Table," to which a new preface has been added, with numerous notes explanatory of allusions in the book. It is printed from entirely new plates, and has a fine steel portrait of Dr. Holmes. They have also now ready Watterson's "Oddities in Southern Life and Character," the new edition of Browning's complete works in seven crown octavo volumes; and "Monte Rosa, the Epic of an Alp," by Starr H. Nichols, which is described as a poem of unusual power, both descriptive and philosophical.

ROBERTS BROS. have just ready "Little Sister," the first volume in the new (third) series of No Name novels, its scenes laid in Philadelphia, Edinburgh, and Siasconset; a second series of "Sunshine in the Soul," a choice little volume in the Wisdom Series; "Plish and Plum," an irresistibly comic book, translated by Chas. T. Brooks, from the German of Wilhelm Busch, the author of "Max and Maurice," and a new edition of "Posies for Children," a book of juvenile verse, arranged by Mrs. Lowell. They will have ready on the 15th inst. "Sinners and Saints: a tour across the States and round them, with three months among the Mormons," by Phil Robinson, the author of "Under the Sun." They will issue on the same day "Pearls of the Faith; or, Islam's Rosary," by Edwin Arnold. This poem treats of the life and religion of Mohammed from the standpoint of an Indian Mussulman.

HARPER & BROS. have now ready the "Selections from Robert Herrick," with drawings by Edwin A. Abbey, which will rank among the best gift-books of the present season. The quaint lines of Herrick are as quaintly pictured in the charming illustrations by Abbey, and the book in its entire make-up—paper, print, press-work and binding—leaves nothing to be desired by the admirer of Herrick's old-time verse. The introduction by Austin Dobson gives an additional value to the volume. They also issue Dr. Franz von Reber's "History of Ancient Art," translated and augmented by Joseph T. Clarke, with many illustrations and a glossary of technical terms; Charles Carleton Coffin's splendid volume for young people in his series of American histories, entitled "Building the Nation," a survey of events in the history of the United States, from the Revolution to the beginning of the war between the States; and No. 283 Harper's Franklin Square Library, "Flower and Weed," a novel by Miss Braddon.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just ready a new volume of sketches, entitled "Military Life in Italy," devoted to sketches of soldiers and soldier life, by the entertaining author, Edmondo de Amicis; "The Merv Oasis," Edmund O'Donovan's graphic narrative of his travels and adventures east of the Caspian, and of a five months' residence among the Tekkes; "Fundamental Questions, chiefly relating to the Book of Genesis and the Hebrew Scriptures," by E. L. Clark; and another little book in the series of Science Ladders, "Lowest Forms of Water Animals," by N. D'Anvers. This house also makes the important announcement of the speedy issue of the Stratford edition of Irving's most popular works. The set will comprise the "Sketch-Book," "Knickerbocker," "Life of Columbus" (as condensed by the author), and "Life of Washington" (omitting the documentary material)—in all, four volumes, put up in a neat box. A new popular edition of the "Sketch-Book," to retail for $1, is also nearly ready.

FUNK & WAGNALLS will issue on the 10th inst. an interesting and attractive book for children, entitled "Talks and Stories about Heroes and Holidays; or, Ten-minute Sermons to Boys and Girls on the Holidays and on the International Sunday-school Lessons of 1883." These sermons are by the following well-known preachers of the United States and England: Revs. W. F. Crafts, W. Bull, J. G. Merrill, Mark Guy Pearse, T. L. Cuyler, D.D., Richard Newton, D.D., R. S. Storrs, D.D., Eli Corwin, D.D., Anna Oliver, B. T. Vincent, J. L. Hurlbut, Clayton Welles, Richard Cordley, Cyrus Hamlin, J. S. Ostrander, S. H. Virgin, E. B. Snyder, D.D., J. A. Cass, Hiles Pardoe. The book is edited by Rev. W. F. Crafts. It is illustrated with forty new cuts and many incidents and object illustrations, making it a desirable gift-book. They will issue early this month an "Exegetical Commentary on Acts," by Rev. H. A. W. Meyer, with notes by Rev. Dr. Ormiston; also "Reminiscences of Rev. Lyman Beecher," by Prof. E. P. Thwing.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); G. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (16mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights. Where figure instead of letter symbols are used, the record is from publisher's designation, and not measurement.

Addison, Joseph. Sir Roger de Coverley; reimprinted from the Spectator, with il. by C. O. Murray. N. Y., Appleton, [1882]. 12+194 p. sq. D. cl., $2.25.

Contains Addison's papers on "Sir Roger de Coverley," finely il. by C. O. Murray and engraved by James D. Cooper. The illustrations are on every page almost and are exceedingly clever and graceful, the designer having caught the spirit of the text, and evidently studied the life and costumes of the day; head and tail pieces of spirited design embellish the book, as does also a fine full-page etching of "Sir Roger and the widow;" green edges and in a new style—green—decorated cloth.

Alden, W. L. ["The Funny Man of the New York Times."] The comic liar. N. Y., G. W. Carleton & Co., 1882. il. 12°. cl., $1.50.

Allen, Elizabeth Akers. Rock me to sleep, mother. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, 1883 [1882]. no paging, il. sq. D. cl., $1.50; full tree cf., $5.

Contains 14 full-page illustrations and several pretty vignettes; printed only on one side of thick gilt-edge paper; the il. are by S. G. McCutcheon, F. S. Church, E. H. Garrett, Jessie Curtis Shepherd, W. L. Taylor and Francis Miller; they were drawn and engraved under the supervision of George T. Andrew.

Anacreon. Anakpeonteia: Anacreontics [Greek] selected and arranged with notes by I. Flagg. Bost., Ginn, Heath & Co., 1882. 7+35 p. sq. T. cl., 40 c.

This is a selection of sixty or more of the little poems which have come down to us as the words of Anacreon. The student of classic literature will find the little volume convenient for the pocket. The explanatory foot-notes are very clear and satisfactory.

Appletons' illustrated hand-book of American winter resorts, for tourists and invalids; revised for season of 1882-'83. N. Y., Appleton, 1882. 8+140+4 p. il. and maps, D. pap., 50 c. ures delivered before the university of Oxford on the Bampton foundation. [New issue.] N. Y., Rob. Carter & Bros., 1883 [1882]. 3-258 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Bible. Commentary on the acts of the apostles, by Horatio B. Hackett, D.D. New ed., rev. and enl. by the author; ed. by Alvah Hovey, D.D., in consultation with Ezra Abbot. Phil., American Baptist Pub. Soc., [1882]. 3-345 p. map and il. O. cl., $2.

The present edition of this standard work is enlarged by the addition of about one hundred pages; the view on some passages has been modified; expressions that were found to be obscure have been made plainer; new points in the text have been elucidated, and the work generally improved.

Bible. The International revision commentary on the New Testament, based upon the revised version of 1881; by English and American scholars and members of the Revision Committee; ed. by Philip Schaff, D.D. V. 5: The Acts of the Apostles, explained by J. S. Howson, D.D. and H. D. M. Spence. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1882. 20+420 p. 1 map, S. cl., $1.25.

This volume of the "Acts of the apostles" is an abridgment and an adaptation of the illustrated "Commentary" of Dean Howson and Canon Spence to the revised version, with additions by the editor. The additions include the introduction, several excursions, the practical notes and textual comments.

Bigelow, Melville Madison. Treatise on the law of estoppel and its application in practice. 3d ed. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1882. 83+675 p. 8°. shp., $6.

Mostly professional papers on: Locke and Sydenham; Dr. Andrew Combe; Dr. H. Marshall and military hygiene; Art and science; Our Gideon Grays; Dr. Andrew Brown and Sydenham; Free competition in medicine; Edward Forbes; Dr. Adams on Bauchory; Excursus ethicus;

* In entries, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record. This list will be reprinted verbatim, with all the notices of the books received, in the TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

Dr. John Scott and his son; Mr. Syme and Sir Robert Christison. To which the American publishers have added: Miss Sterling Graham of Duntrune; Sir E. Landseer's picture, "There's life in the old dog yet," etc., and Sir Henry Raeburn.

Browning, Mrs. Elizabeth Barrett. Mrs. Browning's birthday-book; ed. by R. H. Stoddard. N. Y., Ja. Miller, 1882. 6+375+14 p. il. T. cl., $1.

Selections for every day in the year from Mrs. Browning's poems, her "Book of the Poets," "The Greek Christian Poets," and her "Letters to Richard Hengist Horne;" with 12 page il. for each month. Mr. Stoddard, in speaking of his arrangement of the book, especially the calendar, says his object was "to compose a calendar which should not only be interesting on account of the persons whose births and deaths it chronicled, but should also be interesting on account of the light which might be shed upon these persons by the writings of Mrs. Browning."

Brush, Mary E. Paul and Persis; or, the revolutionary struggle in the Mohawk Valley. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1883 [1882]. 228 p. i. il. S. cl., $1.25.

A Palentine settlement in the Mohawk Valley in the year 1775 is the scene of this story, which outlines the events preceding the revolution, especially in N. Y. State: Persis is a little girl who is left in a basket on the steps of Paul's father's house; she and Paul grow up together and finally love one another; they witness many exciting events and have some adventures, among which is the discovery of Persis' father.

Buckley, Arabella B. Winners in life's race; or, the great backboned family. N. Y., Appleton, 1883 [1882]. 15+367 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

The present volume, giving an account of the vertebrate animals, is a natural sequel to, and completion of the author's former book, "Life and her children," which treated of invertebrates. It describes graphically the early history of the backboned animals so far as it is yet known to us, dwelling at the same time upon the lives of such modern animals as best illustrate the present divisions of the vertebrates upon the earth: "my object being," the author says, "rather to follow the tide of life, and sketch in broad outline how structure and habit have gone hand in hand in filling every available space with living beings, than to multiply descriptions of the various species."

Butler, W. F. Red Cloud, the solitary Sioux: a story of the great prairie. N. Y., G. Munro, 1882. 36 p. Q. (Seaside lib., no. 1422.) pap., 10 c.

Butterworth, Hezekiah. Zigzag journeys in the Occident, the Atlantic to the Pacific: a summer trip of the Zigzag Club from Boston to the Golden Gate. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, 1883 [1882]. 5-320 p. il. and maps, sq. D. cl., $2.25; bds., $1.75.

Travels through the great Northeast; this volume, though in the main a book of stories, seeks to show the aim and possible results of the great western emigration, what the government lands are, and how they may be obtained; the conditions of success of the western homesteader, and the possible profits of his enterprise; the book is profusely illustrated and gotten up uniform with the other "Zigzag" books.

Cadell, H. M. Ida Craven. N. Y., G. Munro, 1882. 47 p. (Seaside lib., no. 1441.) pap., 20 c.

Calvert, Rev. W. The wife's manual; or, prayers, thoughts and songs on several occasions of a matron's life. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1882. 8+102 p. il. sq. D. vellum, $2.25.

A collection of about fifty poems of a religious character, written by an English clergyman; the book is quaintly ornamented and printed, the style of ornamentation adopted being that of "A book of Christian prayers," printed by John Day, 1569, and usually called "Queen Elizabeth's Prayer-book;" there is a picturesque border of figures and flowers, quaint head and tail pieces and initial letters; bound in white vellum with black and red lettering and red edges.

Carter, Rev. Andrew and Watt, Francis. Picturesque Scotland; its romantic scenes and historical associations, described in lay, legend, song and story, with an account of the national sports and games of the Highlands. N. Y., J. Wiley & Sons, 1882. 6 pl. and 125 il., 8° cl., $2.50.

Cassell's magazine of art [1882]. V. 5. N. Y., Cassell, Petter, Galpin & Co., 1882. 8+528+48+48 p. il. F. cl., $5.

The volume for 1882, in handsome binding and gilt edges, issued as a holiday gift-book, contains a résumé of the progress during the past year in all branches of art—not only in painting, statuary and engraving—but in decorative art, art needlework, pottery, bronzes, etc. A feature of this volume is its papers on American artists, and its "Monthly Record of American Art." The volume is profusely illustrated with full-page and text pictures, showing some of the best specimens of the year's art-work.

Thornby Smith. N. Y., N. Tibbals & Sons, 1882. 6 v., 300 il., 900 p. sq. 8° cl., $20; shp., $25; hf. mor., $28.90.

Clay, C. M. (pseud. for Mrs. Charlotte M. Clark.) The modern Hagar: a drama. N. Y., G. W. Harlan & Co., 1882. 2 v. 369; 402 p. D. (Kaaterskill ser.) cl., $2.

By the author of "Baby Rue." The novel opens four years after the episode of that book on the Western plains, but the subject which gives title to this story is the wrongs of the heroine, a quadroon girl whose master is the father of her child. The action comes from the relation of this man to her and to his legal wife. The author is of strong Southern sympathies, yet presents remarkably many-sided as well as vigorous views of the political situation in ante-war days.

Coffin, C. Carleton. Building the nation: events in the history of the United States from the revolution to the beginning of the war between the states. N. Y., Harper, 1883 [1882]. 3-485 p. il. sq. O. cl., $3.

The object of the work is to narrate how the American colonies, having gained their independence, became united under one government, and how the great western republic came to be what it was at the time of the outbreak of the war of the rebellion. Mr. Coffin takes a large view of the factors which co-operated in the great progressive movement. Accordingly, he does not confine himself to the more important and conspicuous events which mark the course of the national history. The social, religious and moral forces by which the character of the people has been determined, and the achievements of Americans in the domains of science, literature and the mechanical arts receive special attention, while most entertaining views are given of the manners and customs which prevailed in different periods and sections of the country.

"The scene is laid in Rome in the time of Domitian, and we have an abundantly learned description of Roman life and of Roman vices. The translation is smooth. . . . The plot takes in devoted love and brutal vice, palace conspiracies, Christian persecutions and slaughters in the arena, and ends with the murder of the emperor and the triumph of the revolt under Nerva. It is an interesting story, and it gives a good picture of the age."—Boston Advertiser.

"It is in three parts, the first of which deals with the museum at Brussels and with the works of Rubens chiefly. The second part is devoted to Holland, and discourses delightfully of the Hague, Paul Potter, Terburg, Metz, Ruysdael, Cuyp, Hals and of their most famous productions. The Van Eyckes and Memling form the principal topic of the third part. The volume is full of charm in its style, and attractively minute and judicious in its criticisms. . . . A number of fine heliotype illustrations add to the interest of the text."—Boston Gazette.

- The basis of the work is the great Herzog Encyclopædia, edited by Drs. Herzog, Plitt and Hauck, of Germany; but, as many of its articles are lengthy and of comparatively small interest to American readers, the entire work has been rewritten and prepared by a corps of the ablest English and American scholars and divines. Among the American and English contributors to the work are Drs. Cairns, Calderwood, Flint, Blaikie, Moulton, of Scotland; Drs. Park, Woolsey, McCosh, Morris, Osgood (of Rochester Seminary), John Hall, Bishop Tuttle, D. Costa, ex-Provost Stille, Fisher, Ezra Abbott, Strong (of Drew Seminary), A. A. Hodge, William M. Taylor, and Roswell D. Hitchcock. The Revs. Dr. Storrs, H. W. Bee her, Noah Porter, Howard Crosby, David Swing, George C. Lorimer, Mark Hopkins, William M. Taylor, and other well-known clergymen conversant with the work have given their unqualified indorsement. William M. Taylor, of New York, says: "For fullness, comprehensiveness, and accuracy, this encyclopædia takes first place among Biblical encyclopædias." Roswell D. Hitchcock says it is the very best encyclopædia published in any language.

- "Recent events in Africa have again directed the eyes of Europe to the small Oriental state, the description of which is the object of this book. As very few works have been written about Tunis, and none descriptive of the present most interesting state of affairs in the Regency, I have complied with repeated requests by publishing the result of my observations there. The archaeological curiosities, in which the country is so rich, I have touched upon very lightly, as they have been repeatedly described, but I have paid all the more attention to its present condition, its towns, districts, and people."—Preface.

Linton, W. J., ed. Rare poems of the 16th and 17th centuries; a supplement to the anthologies; collected and edited, with notes, by W. J. Linton. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883 [1882]. 20+264 p. il. sq. S. vellum cl., $2.

Under the title, "Golden apples of Hesperus," Mr. Linton some time ago printed a limited edition of "poems not in collections," meaning the general selections accessible to the ordinary readers—not really students of English poetry; the present book is but in part a reprint of that same work—poems of the 19th century being omitted, and poems of the 16th and 17th centuries added, with a selection from the anonymous writings of the same period, out of early miscellanies, or from reprints by Park, Ellis, Collier, Asher, and others. Among the known authors from whose writings he gives selections are Sir Thomas Wyatt, Sir Philip Sidney, Michael Drayton, John Donne, Beaumont and Fletcher, William Drummond, Thos. Stanley, Sir John Suckling, and Andrew Marvell; the second part comprises poems by unknown authors taken from old collections, such as Dowland's song-books, Wilbye's madrigals, England's Helicon, Campion's airs, and Forde's music of sundry kinds; the book is bound in white vellum cloth, and the illustrations consist chiefly of headings and tail pieces, with here and there a miniature landscape.

- Molesworth, Mrs. Rosy; il. by Walter Crane. N. Y., Macmillan, 1882. 9+204 p. S. cl., $1.25.
- A pretty story for children, illustrated with page-pictures; "Rosy" is the central figure in a pretty English home circle of children; she has a hasty temper, but a not ungenerous heart, and gets into many troubles; the incidents are simple and natural and calculated to interest a child very much. Mrs. Molesworth is the author of "Carrots," "The cuckoo clock," and other stories for children.
- Mollett, J. W. Modern etchings of celebrated paintings. N. Y., R. Worthington, 1883 [1882]. il. O. cl., $12.50.
- Chapters on: Italy, the inspiration of Raphael; Velasquez, the Spaniard; Holbein, the German Protestant; Rubens, the Flemish Catholic; The golden period of the art of Holland; Modern French painting; Modern German genre painting; Reynolds, Alma-Tadema; illustrated by 20 etchings from the artists discus-sed. Some of the subjects are: the "Madonna of the Orleans gallery," "Lucrezia della Fede," "Master of ordnance," "Martin Day," "Wife of Martin Day," "The woman with the glove," "The smoker," "The quarry," "An idyl," etc.; they are etched by some of the best etchers in the world—Gaillard, Gilbert, Rajon, Flameng, Fischer, Woernle, Effenhardt, etc.
- Morwood, Vernon S. Facts and phases of animal life, interspersed with amusing and original anecdotes. N. Y., Appleton, 1883 [1882]. 3-286 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.
- Written principally for the young; describes in simple language the marvellous organization, the instinct, memory, sagacity, and inventive faculties of some of the ordinary animals and insects; amusing and useful anecdotes, many of which are original, and others selected from undoubted authorities are introduced.
- New York. The act authorizing the formation of corporations for manufacturing, mining, mechanical, chemical, agricultural, horticultural, mercantile or commercial purposes, passed Feb. 17, 1848; with the amendments passed 1851-'80, notes, forms and index. - Otis, Ja. Mr. Stubbs' brother: a sequel to "Toby Tyler," il. by W. A. Rogers. N. Y., Harper, 1883 [1882]. 3-283 p. sq. S. cl., $1.
- The children will remember "Mr. Stubbs" as the monkey hero of "Toby Tyler," and will be glad to welcome in his brother a new source of amusement. Little Toby is seen in this book at home helping his little friends get up a private circus of their own; a visit from the old circus brings the fat woman, the skeleton, and all the rest of Toby's old friends on the carpet again for a short time, and "Mr. Stubbs' brother" is given him as a testimony of their regard.
- Our little ones: illustrated stories and poems for little people; ed. by W. T. Adams ("Oliver Optic.") Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1883 [1882]. 16+384 p. il. sq. O. cl., $2.50; bds., $1.75.
- With 350 illustrations by eminent American artists, and contributions by all the best writers for the young, including Oliver Optic, Sophie May, author of the "Prudy" and "Flaxie Frizzle" books, and Amanda M. Douglas, author of "Kathie" stories. Everything in the book is new and original—written, designed and engraved expressly for it. The cover is quite unique.
- Palmer, Henrietta Lee. Home-life in the Bible; ed. by J. Williamson Palmer. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1881. 16+428 p. il. O. cl., $3.50.
- A profusely illustrated work, treating of the inner life of the people of the East in Bible times; the scope of the work will be seen by the following summary of the topics discussed: Habitations and homes; Furniture and utensils; Marriage, widowhood and divorce; Children—their training and schooling; The higher education; Employments and servants; Larder, kitchen and table; Dress and ornaments; The toilet and the bath; Domestic and public worship; Music—sacred and secular; Alms and hospitalities; Seed-time and harvest; Flocks and herds; Sickness and death; Burial and mourning.
- Parsons, S. B. Parsons on the rose: a treatise on the propagation, culture and history of the rose. New rev. and enl. ed. N. Y., Orange Judd Co., 1883 [1882]. 236 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.
- In presenting this new edition the author has carefully revised the garden classification; with the first edition was published a list of 1066 varieties with their synonyms; the great increase since then has almost doubled that number.
- Percy, T. The boy's Percy: being old ballads of war, adventure and love, from Bishop T. Percy's "Reliques of ancient English poetry," together with an appendix containing two ballads from the original Percy folio ms.; ed. for boys with an introduction by Sidney Lanier; with 50 il. from original designs by E. B. Bessell. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1882. 35+441 p. cl., $2.50.
- Contains: "Robin Hood and Guy of Gisborne," "King Estmere," "Adam Bell," "The more modern ballad of Chevy Chase," and "The ancient ballad of Chevy Chase," "The battle of Otterbourn," "The child of Elle," "The Friar of Orders Gray," "The rising of the North," "The nut-brown maid" and many other familiar old ballads. The illustrations are page-pictures and in the text, and are very good.
- Perry, T. Sergeant, ed. The life and letters of, Francis Lieber. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1882. 4+439 p. por. O. cl., $3.
- "Francis Lieber was one of the greatest publicists, not only of this country, but of the age (b. Berlin, 1800), and it is pleasant to have so good a picture of him as Mr. Perry's volume presents. He said once that his life would never be written, but here it is, self-drawn. The diaries and letters left by Mr. Lieber were so full, that Mr. Ferry has added little, wisely confining himself to making the necessary selections and arranging them chronologically. Its interest is not the naive self-revelation of a Peppys. Dr. Lieber showed much reticence even to his alter ego, his diary, and more than once we find in his letters fuller details than the diary gives. What we have is a record of a life of extraordinary mental vigor, and of great enthusiasm, the last quality having a strong German coloring."—Boston Advertiser.

Pinkerton, Allan. Bank robbers. N. Y., G. W. Carleton & Co., 1882. il. 12^c. cl., $1.50.

Pollard, Josephine. Gellivör: a Christmas legend of the Northland; by il. by Walter Satterlee. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., 1882. no paging, sq. S. ribbon-tied leaflets, 40 c. A graceful Christmas poem with colored illustrations Porter, Noah. Evangeline; the place, the story, and the poem; with 19 original il. by Frank Dicksee. N. Y., Cassell, Petter, Galpin & Co., 1882. no paging, F. price on application.

An édition de luxe, limited to 500 copies, numbered and signed by Professor Porter, containing 19 original illustrations by Frank Dicksee. A.R.A., 15 of which are reproduced in photogravure by Messrs. Goupil & Co., of Paris, and four are proof impressions on India paper from the original blocks, beautifully illustrating Longfellow's poem of "Evangeline." The typography of this volume is all that could be desired; the binding is tasteful and unique.

Rawlinson, G. The seventh great Oriental monarchy; or, the geography, history, and antiquities of the Sassanian or New Persian empire; collected and illustrated from ancient and modern sources. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1882. 2 v. 16+338; 12+351 p. map and il. O. cl., $6.

This work completes the ancient history of the east, to which the author has devoted his main attention during the last eighteen years. It is a sequel to his "Parthians," published in 1873, and carries down the history of Western Asia from the third century of our era to the middle of the seventh. Index.

Reber, Franz von. History of ancient art; rev. by the author; tr. and augmented by Joseph Thacher Clarke. N. Y., Harper, 1882. 20+482 p. il. O. cl., $3.50.

"A history of the fine arts that should state correctly what is known concerning their works, and should treat their various manifestations with intelligence, and in just proportion, would be of great value to the student. Such, within its limits as a manual and for the period which it covers, is Dr. Reber's 'History of Ancient Art.' So far as I am aware, there is no compend of information on the subject in any language so trustworthy and so judicious as this. It serves equally well as an introduction to the study and as a treatise to which the advanced student may refer with advantage to refresh his knowledge of the outlines of any part of the field."—Extract from Prof. Charles Eliot Norton's Preface. Contains a glossary of technical terms; the author is Director of the Bavarian Royal and State Galleries of paintings, and professor in the University and Polytechnic of Munich.

Nearly 800 poets are represented in this work, grouped under subject headings and introduced by brief biographical notes. It is handsomely printed and illustrated with 15 portraits of the most celebrated poets. Index of authors. Index of first lines. "It has been the aim of the editors to make the present collection truly catholic. It embraces a body of representative poems of all ages, denominations and countries. . . . While there are specimens of the poetry of almost all the masters of English composition, the minor poets have not been forgotten, nor has veneration for antiquity kept the editors from giving attention to the latest home of the great family of singers."—Preface.

Illustrated poem for the holidays, bound in holiday style.

Spofford, Mrs. Harriet Prescott. Hester Stanley at St. Mark's. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1882. 194 p. il. sq. S. cl., $1.25.

"Mrs. Spofford tells the story of the training and education given to a wild, undisciplined nature by the wise and noble principal of a girls' boarding-school. It is a pleasant novelty to hear of the good influences of a boarding-school; although even "St. Mark's" had its drawback in a bad-tempered under-teacher, and fiery Hester Stanley had a great deal to try the little patience which she possessed. Mrs. Spofford has made her story of school-life picturesque and exciting, and has done full justice to the affectionate and earnest feelings of Hester, and of the girls who were her companions."—Boston Advertiser.

Symonds, J. Addington. Renaissance in Italy: Italian literature. N. Y., H. Holt & Co., 1882. 2 v., 13+561; 10+643 p. por. O. cl., $7.

These two parts or two volumes, numbering together nearly 1200 pages, complete the study of the "Renaissance in Italy," which Mr. Symonds has been issuing in sectional instalments during the last few years. The first instalment was "The age of the despots," the second "The revival of learning," the third, "The fine arts," and the fourth and last is now before us. It is advisably treated on a fuller scale than any of the other portions, which were planned as in some degree preparatory for this one. "Mr. Symonds' study of the renaissance, thus rounded and completed," says the London Athenaeum, "must certainly rank among the considerable literary monuments of our time. It is a learned, a thoughtful and a brilliant book."

Thompson, A. C., D.D. Moravian missions; twelve lectures. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1882. 9+516 p. maps, D. cl., $2.

These lectures open with a history of the Moravians, both the ancient and the modern church, and an account of the life and labors of Count Zinzendorf. The author then proceeds to the special history of the Moravian Missions in the West Indies, in Central and South America, in Greenland, in Labrador, among the Indians, and elsewhere. This is the first thorough and comprehensive account of the Moravians and their missions that has appeared in English.

Thompson, Mrs. E. H., comp. Gems. N. Y., Phillips & Hunt, [1882]. 3 v., 96; 96; 54 p. Fe. cl., 80 c.

Trollope, F. E. Mabel's progress: a novel. N. Y., G. Munro, 1882. 81 p. Q. (Seaside lib., no. 1417.) pap., 20 c.

Trowbridge, J. T. The jolly rover. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1883 [1882]. 5-292 p. il. S. (Silver medal ser.) cl., $1.25.

The author aims in this story to portray the false ideas and misconduct that are promoted in youth by the reading of "dime novels." His hero is a boy, well born and carefully reared, who has got the notion that he must see the world and do something heroic; indeed, he aims to become a "dime novel" hero, and with this intention runs away from home; his adventures are varied and exciting and full of intense interest. The lesson is wholesome, for no one would care to follow "The jolly rover's" example.

"Mr. John Albert Wilson, the author of these sweet poems, has high skill in the art of versification. So far as his form, rhyme, rhythm and melody have an influence in the expression of poetic thought and feeling, he has reached good attainment. These qualities, which intensify expression and its effects, and are capable of a higher development than they reach in the work of the majority of poets, are used by him to great advantage."—Boston Globe.

The Publishers' Weekly.

DECEMBER 2, 1882.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

The trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which an interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for "Notes and Queries," gratefully received.

No matter how rich the paper and print, how numerous the illustrations, how glowing the descriptions, and how enticing the advertisements, the Christmas issue would serve no better purpose than that of a Christmas card for the printer, if it could not be in the hands of the book-sellers and book-buyers early enough to serve as a guide and order list for the holiday business. Hence speed is even more important than show. It would be better to give the needful information in the ordinary garb than to miss the hour in attempts at outdoing in gorgeousness. But when a book-trade journal can combine a prompt account of the holiday books with the inspiring surroundings of festive ornament, then of course it doubly serves its ends. These ends have ever been kept in view in preparing the Christmas issue of the WEEKLY, and many times, on former occasions, beauty had to stand back in the race for usefulness. At no time, however, had this office and the printer a better opportunity than this year to excel in the happy combination of both advantages. Everything that could be done editorially, and all the work of the compositor, was done, and the best presses were ready for the first forms, when, to the dismay of all,—there was no paper! An "accident" in the dispatch, of course, was the explanation; and after all these strenuous efforts to beat the record of time of former issues, nearly a whole week was lost in the waiting. When at last the paper arrived, all depended on the printer. And it is our hearty acknowledgment of the splendid achievement on the part of the Burr Printing House that forms the main object of these lines. It was truly a rescue which was impossible without extraordinary printing facilities and their masterly management. Perhaps there may be found a few flaws in the printing of one form or the other; or perhaps some light cuts forced into the same form with very dark ones and vice versa (not to mention the remarkable variety of quality), may have suffered from the prevailing tone; but, as a total, this year's issue is generally conceded to be the best printed—a result which, considering the adverse circumstances, deserves double credit for the accomplishment.

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT.

THE COPYRIGHT CONTROVERSY.

THE following appeared in Harper's Weekly, Nov. 25, under the heading "Misstatements Corrected":

"Mr. Clark Russell, the author of some excellent books which have been republished by the Harpers, who have made arrangements to issue his forthcoming novel, A Sea Queen, recently stated that he had 'never received one single farthing from America,' in compensation for his works. This statement was transmitted to this country, and was here conspicuously published. But as it implied that his American publishers had made no pecuniary acknowledgment for Mr. Russell's works issued by them, the Messrs. Harper sent a letter to the papers, stating that in every case they had remitted to the English publishers the sum agreed upon for the advance sheets of his books, and that in reply to a letter of his they had assured him of the fact two years ago, and Mr. Russell was apparently satisfied. At the same time Mr. Sampson Low, their English agent, wrote to the Athenæum that the stories referred to were published by Harper & Brothers from early sheets, and by arrangement with Mr. Russell's London publishers, 'who had purchased all rights from the author.'

"A few days later a similar injurious statement was telegraphed and republished to the effect that Mr. Pym, the editor of the Journals of Caroline Fox, asserted that 'the Harpers, without permission, payment, or previous communication with the English editor or publisher, issued a vile reprint.' To this statement the Harpers replied at once that Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co., of Philadelphia, bought the early sheets of the book, and that by arrangement with them as the owners of the sheets, for the payment of a proper royalty, the work was issued in the Franklin Square Library. The English editor or publisher having disposed of the advance sheets for the American market, certainly could not justly complain of arrangements made for that market by the buyer of the sheets. The Harpers having thus promptly and completely disposed of two falsehoods concerning their business, very properly assure the editor of the paper to which they were telegraphed, that they will not again trespass upon his valuable space to answer similar misrepresentations.

"But such misstatements recall attention to the proposed international copyright. The English publishers desire a treaty which will enable them to enjoy a monopoly of the American market, and they naturally do not smile upon the American proposition to pay copyright to the English author, and manufacture his book. Meanwhile the American publisher does the best that he can. The only advantage that he can now secure is by the purchase of advance sheets either of the English author or the English publisher. But this is of course a precarious advantage, because, however cheaply he may reproduce the work, he runs the risk that it may be immediately reprinted in other cheap forms, and this fact makes a large remuneration to the author impossible. The law in this country gives the English author no protection whatever. The Constitution does not consider the rights of authors, but the benefit of the public. In this absence of all protection the American publisher offers the English author copyright upon condition of manufacturing his book for America. The English author willingly agrees, but the English publisher resists. American and English authors agree with American publishers, but are opposed by English publishers. The difference is serious, but certainly the wise settlement of the question will not be promoted by calumny."

The following is from the London letter to the N. Y. Times, dated London, Nov. 4: "A 'copyright and copywrong' incident is a topic of discussion in literary circles. It is the case of Mr. Clark Russell, of which you have probably heard. In to-day's Athenæum Mr. Sampson Low says his firm have received several hundred pounds from Messrs. Harper for the advance sheets of Mr. Russell's novel, and they acknowledge the liberality with which the New York firm has dealt with them. When an English novelist makes agreements with his London publishers, he has only himself to blame if he neglects to cover the American market. The truth is, America (as in many other cases) was the first to see and to acknowledge Mr. Clark Russell's ability as a novelist. No clever author's work has been more neglected, no masterly writer more 'sat upon' by London critics than Mr. Clark Russell. Even in regard to his 'Wreck of the Grosvenor,' the most appreciative reviews of that brilliant work appeared in American journals."

The following is from the N. Y. Tribune Nov. 18: "The last number of The Athenæum [Nov. 4] contains the letter of Mr. Sampson Low concerning Mr. Clark Russell and the Harpers which was referred to by the London correspondent of The Tribune in his dispatches of November 5 and 12. Mr. Low says in brief that the Harpers printed Mr. Russell's stories from early sheets for which they handsomely paid the London publishers, those publishers having purchased all rights from the author; that no one of Mr. Russell's stories has been published by the Harpers without payment therefor; that it is the invariable custom of the Harpers to pay for early sheets of English works published by them; and that the editions mentioned by Mr. Russell were of the cheapest character and sold in competition with unauthorized editions. The Athenæum prints below Mr. Low's letter the following communication from the well-known novelist, Mr. F. W. Robinson:

"30 ST. JAMES'S ROAD, Brixton, Oct. 31, 1882.

"Mr. W. Clark Russell's recital of his treatment at the hands of the American publishers is so completely at variance with my own experience that possibly you will allow me a few words on the question at issue.

"Is it probable that my brother author disposed of his copyrights, i. e., of all rights, British and foreign, to his English publishers to begin with? This would explain why no money has reached him from America, where I am sure his clever stories would always command a high price for 'advance sheets.' If this be not the case, I am at a loss to understand the position, or to reconcile it with the liberal treatment, and in some instances the almost princely rate of pay, which Messrs. Harper, of New York, have awarded to English authors, as a rule for very slight advantages.

"You, I am sure, will allow me at least to assert in my own case that Messrs. Harper have for many years published simultaneously in America all that I have written in the way of fiction here, and have paid handsomely for every line of it; in one or two instances—and English publishers will bear this in mind for all our sakes, I am sure—exceeding even the 'scale of wage' agreed upon.

"The editor of The Athenæum adds: 'A lady novelist also writes to us and confirms Mr. Robinson's account of the liberal treatment accorded by Messrs. Harper to English writers.'

"The above appeared in the same column of The Athenæum with the letter of Mr. Low, and would seem to be of sufficient importance in shedding light upon the subject to be entitled to quote as much notice as was given Mr. Low. [Ed.]"

The following is Mr. Smalley's dispatch of Nov. 12:

"The Athenæum continues to publish letters about the Harpers' treatment of British authors. Follett Syrige, an unknown writer, acknowledges the receipt of payment, while Mr. Pym, the editor of 'The Journals of Caroline Fox,' says the Harpers, without permission, payment, or previous communication with the English editor or publisher, issued a vile reprint. Clark Russell leaves unnoticed Sampson Low's extraordinary statement last week."

This statement induced the Messrs. Harper to issue the following card to the editor of the Tribune, dated Nov. 13:

"Sir: In G. W. S.'s London letter, published in your issue of yesterday, we find the following sentence: 'Mr. Pym, the Editor of "The Journals of Caroline Fox," says the Harpers, without permission, payment, or previous communication with the English editor or publisher, issued a vile reprint.'

"As this statement conveys the implication that we have issued a reprint of 'The Journals of Caroline Fox' without pecuniary acknowledgment, we beg leave to say that Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co., of Philadelphia, acquired by purchase the early sheets of the book for the American market, and that we arranged with them, as the owners of the sheets, to reprint it in our Franklin Square Library, paying them a royalty on all copies sold by us. The English editor or publisher, having disposed of the advance sheets of the work for the market in this country, has certainly no ground of complaint with any arrangement which Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co. may choose to make with other American publishers.

"We shall not hereafter trespass on your valuable space in answering similar misrepresentations of our business arrangements for English publications. Respectfully,

"HARPER & BROTHERS."

The following is Mr. Smalley's dispatch of Nov. 19:

"More copyright letters appear in The Athenæum. One is from Clark Russell evading explanation; another is from Sampson Low defending the Harpers for reprinting the Caroline Fox letters, and alleging that they were authorized by Lippincott, who had paid the English publishers."

A later dispatch from Mr. Smalley, dated London, Nov. 25, reports that "the copyright controversy is growing still livelier, three columns of letters appearing in to-day's Athenæum." Mr. Smalley, in this dispatch, proceeds to characterize the contents, but his proceeding bears so characteristically the Smalley animus that we prefer to await the arrival of the Athenæum.

IMPORTATION OF BOOKS COPYRIGHTED IN THE UNITED STATES.

THE following circular (No. 119) has been issued by the Treasury Department, under date of October 19th, 1882: "Collectors and other officers of the customs are hereby notified that by Section 4694 Revised Statutes, the importation of books copyrighted in the United States without the consent of the owner of the copyright is prohibited. To avail themselves of the protection given by the law, owners of United States copyrights must file with collectors of customs duly authenticated certificates of such ownership. On importation of any books, whether by mail or otherwise, which are covered by any such certificate, and the importation of which is not consented to by the owner of the copyright, the proper officer of the customs will detain the books, and at once notify the owner of the copyright, to the end that the latter may take the steps necessary for their forfeiture to him. Books covered by such certificate will not be admitted to an entry on behalf of the importer, but it will be the duty of the collector to request the district attorney to intervene for the duties in any proceeding which may be instituted for their forfeiture. [Signed] H. F. French, Assistant Secretary."

TARIFF ON BOOKS.

PROF. JAMES MORGAN HART, in a paper on "Custom-House Abuses," read before the Literary Club of Cincinnati, says: "If there is any one duty less justifiable than the others, assuredly it is the duty on foreign books. It does not help a single branch of domestic industry. Will any one, even Mr. Kelley, of Philadelphia, pretend that American authors are helped by taxing the English, French, or German books that they use in their studies? As well pretend that American artists are helped by a duty on foreign paints and varnish. But if a foreign book is likely to be read by great numbers, Mr. Munroe, or some one of that ilk, will pirate it, and publish it for less than the foreign price, and consequently there is no importation. The duty on books does not come chiefly out of the pockets of the ordinary consumer of books, the rich, but out of the pockets of a hard-working, hard-faring class, men of letters, of science, professional men in general, and teachers."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES

The Periodical World is the title of a new monthly magazine proposed in Boston, to be partly original and partly selected, and to contain many facts about current periodical literature.

The Universe is the title of a new monthly magazine, of which the first number has been issued by the Universe Publishing Co., St. Louis. It is designed for home reading and to contain short and interesting articles on current topics of human interest.

THE Christmas Wide Awake, this year, will be a mammoth number as to size, with a new cover in many colors, an almost endless picture-gallery of beautiful engravings, and representing in its serials, stories, articles, music and poetry, favorite authors at home and abroad.

La Cuisine is the French name of the official organ of the Universal Union of Culinary Art, American section, a monthly journal devoted to the improvement of the American table, and to the interests of culinary experts and of all concerned in alimentary products and accessory industries. The journal is edited by P. S. M. Munro, and published at No. 23 Dey Street, New York. Subscription, $1 a year.

The Old Bookbuyer's Guide, a monthly journal devoted exclusively to the interests of old books, will be inaugurated by the issue of the first number in January, 1883. It will contain original and selected matter in relation to books and authors and also a catalogue of old, rare and standard works for sale by the publishers, Jordan Bros., Philadelphia. One of its features will be a Notes and Queries Department.

THE publishers of the American Journal of Obstetrics announce that in consequence of various difficulties arising from post-office regulations regarding supplements to periodicals, etc., they find it impracticable to issue the journal in two parts, as has been done, and that, beginning January 1, 1883, they will incorporate the Quarterly and the Supplement and issue the journal as a monthly. No change will be made in the subscription price.

The Critic of Dec. 2 is in some respects a holiday number, though it contains no article especially devoted to the season. The more noteworthy features are an essay on "The Beauty of Plain Living," by Edith M. Thomas; "American Literature in Italy," by G. T. Godkin; "Deseccration," a poem, by R. W. Gilder; a sonnet to Philip Bourke Marston, the blind young English poet, by Margaret J. Preston; and a leading editorial on "George Ripley as a Critic."

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

ON account of the small number of copies left of Strahan's "Etudes in Modern French Art," and the continued demand for the work, R. Worthington has raised the price from $10 to $12.50.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have just issued the holiday number of their "Literary Bulletin," which comprises a descriptive list of their latest publications, accompanied with representative illustrations from the leading books. The number is an exquisite specimen of presswork.

FUNK & WAGNALLS announce that the first edition of Vol. I of the "Schaff-Herzog Encyclopædia of Religious Knowledge," is exhausted, and that a new edition is being hurried through the press. The work has received a hearty and general commendation from scholars on account of its fulness, fairness, and accuracy.

HENRY D. CHAPIN, the enterprising Chicago dealer in old and new books, has added a department of art novelties for the supply of plaques and palettes to wholesale and retail buyers. Taking advantage of the "Langtry" excitement, he makes her portrait one of the features of his new department, and has, besides, an hundred or more choice subjects.

HENRY C. LEA'S SON & Co. will shortly publish "A Manual of Pharmacy, Materia Medica, and Therapeutics," by William Whitte, M.D. They have in press "First Aids to the Injured," being five ambulance lectures by Prof. Friedrich Esmarch, translated from the German by Her Royal Highness, the Princess Christian.

J. W. BOUTON will publish Dec. 11, "Bible Myths, and their Parallels in other Religions." The work presents a comparison of the Old and New Testament myths and miracles with those of heathen nations of antiquity, and considers their origin and meaning. The book is the result of many years' study, and will attract the attention of all interested in this special field of research.

FORDS, HOWARD & HULBERT publish this week "The House that Jill Built, after Jack's had Proved a Failure," an attractive book on home architecture, well illustrated and full of practical advice; "The Still-Hunter," a treatise on deer-stalking, by Theodore S. Van Dyke; and "The Problem of the Poor," an interesting account of quiet work among the city's poor, by Helen Campbell.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, under a false impression, made in its last issue the erroneous statement that Edmund W. Gosse's "On Viol and Flute" and Mason's selections from Robert Browning would make their appearance simultaneously in London and New York. The fact is, that the volumes have been expressly prepared for the American publishers, Messrs. Henry Holt & Co.

B. LAWRENCE & CO., 39 Barclay Street, N. Y., have recently put on the market a new steel pen, which they label "Metallic Writing Quill." The pen, it is claimed, is anti-corrosive, and combines all the advantages of the quill and steel pen. Instead of the points being ground straight, they are slightly curved, which makes it next to impossible to penetrate the paper with the point of the pen while in the act of writing.

THE OAHSPÉ PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION, the new religio-humanitarian organization of this city, have ready "Kindergarten Homes for Orphans and Poor Children," an important book, in which the author, Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, pleads the value of these institutions as a preventive of poverty and crime. Another book by the same author is "The Figures of Hell; or, The Temples of Bacchus," a blow aimed at the evils of intemperance.

S. W. GREEN'S SON has issued in uniform style "Eight Standard Books of Fiction," comprising "Romola," by George Eliot; "Uarda," by George Ebers; "John Halifax, Gentleman," by Miss Mulock; "Jane Eyre," by Charlotte Brontë; "Hypatia," by Charles Kingsley; "Corinne," by Mme. de Staël; "Last of the Mohicans," by Cooper; and "Tom Brown at Rugby," by Thomas Hughes. This set, put up in attractive bindings and in a neat box, is sold for five dollars, and makes a cheap and acceptable present.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON have now ready "Gesta Christi," a history of humane progress under Christianity, by C. L. Brace, designed to sketch the advance and development of certain practices, principles and ideals that have been either implanted, or stimulated, or supported by Christianity. As showing what Christianity has already done for the world, and as an inference of what it yet may do, the book is one of interest and value to all students of human progress.

ROBERT CARTER & BROS. have ready "Red and White," a tale of the wars of the Roses, by Emily Sarah Holt, whose historical stories have made her a favorite with so many young readers; "The Story of a Shell," by Dr. Macduff, imparting under the fiction of a childish dream much information to boys and girls as to the sea and its inhabitants; and "Twilight Talks," a little volume by Agnes Giberne, which presents to children in conversational and story form easy and practical lessons on things around us—attraction, gravity, inertia, etc.

T. B. PETERSON & BROS. have just issued Zola's last novel, "A Mad Love; or, The Abbé and his Court;" also, "The Girl in Scarlet; or, The Loves of Silvere and Miette." Among the works in press and soon to be issued may be noted, "The Cardinal Girls," by Ludovic Halévy; "A Young Girl's Romance," a love story, by Ernest Daudet; "La Belle Lisa; or, The Paris Market Girls," by Emile Zola; "Manon Lescault," by the Abbé Prevost; "Genevieve's Victory," by Henry Greville; "Madame De Dreux," also by Henry Greville; and "The Woman of Silver," by Hector Malot.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & CO. have nearly ready "A Landlubber's Log of his Voyage Around Cape Horn, being a journal kept during a four-months' voyage on an American merchantman, bound from Philadelphia to San Francisco," by Morton MacMichael. They will also issue shortly a new juvenile by George Macdonald, entitled "The Princess and Curdie." They have just ready "The New Arabian Nights," which is a collection of select tales from Oriental sources, that both Galland and Lane omitted or overlooked in their translation. Many of these new stories are equal to any of the old, and should have as great a popularity. The volume is illustrated with full-page engravings, and translated and edited by W. F. Kirby.

P. BLAKISTON, SON & CO. have now ready in the *Quiz Compend*s Dr. Potter's treatise on Anatomy, and Part I. of Dr. Hughes' "Practice." "Physiology," by Dr. Brubaker, will immediately follow, and within a very short time Part II. of "Practice," completing that subject. Harley's great work on the liver, embracing diseases of that organ with and without jaundice, is just ready in one octavo volume of nearly 800 pages. The work is spoken of as the most thorough and exhaustive on the subject now within reach of the profession. They have added to the Octavo Series of Standard Medical Books Hewitt's important work on "Diseases of Women: their Pathology, Diagnosis, and Treatment, including the Diagnosis of Pregnancy." It is the fourth American, from the last revised and enlarged London edition, with 770 pages, and one hundred and thirty-two illustrations. Published in a double volume, it embraces Nos. 6 and 7 of the series. Messrs. Blakiston inform us that they have purchased from H. C. Lea's Son & Co. the entire edition of Courty's "Practical Treatise on Diseases of the Uterus," and that they will supply the market with the work.

A. WILLIAMS & CO. publish this week: "Ralph Waldo Emerson, an Estimate of his Character and Genius, in prose and verse," by A. Bronson Alcott. The book is a small quarto, printed on fine paper, in the best style of the art. The contents include an introductory sonnet, two poems read at the Concord School of Philosophy, in July, 1882, entitled respectively, "Ion: a Monody," and "The Poet's Countersign," together with the famous Essay on Emerson, of which but fifty copies were privately printed at the time of its presentation to Emerson on the occasion of his birth day, May 25, 1865. The illustrations include a portrait of Emerson, a picture of the Concord Bridge, Emerson's house, Alcott in his study, and of the summer-house built for Emerson by Alcott. They have just issued a trade edition of Dr. James R. Nicols' readable little treatise of common-sense speculations concerning the future life, entitled "Whence, What, Where?" the first having been issued for private circulation; also an entirely original book of poetry by the author of "Loving Words for Lonely Hours," exquisitely printed, entitled "Five Little Flower Songs for the Dear Wee Folk." Anticipating the Christmas demand that has arisen for books having covers that can be decorated or painted upon, they have prepared for this purpose a specially bound edition of the "Poems and Sonnets of Owen Innsly.

FIFTY PERFECT POEMS.

A Collection of Fifty Acknowledged Masterpieces, by English and American Poets, selected and edited by CHARLES A. DANA and ROSSITER JOHNSON. With seventy original illustrations on wood. The engravings are printed on Japanese silk-paper, and mounted on the page, producing a novel and beautiful effect. Large 8vo, bound in silk, $10.

"The title of this volume may perhaps appear a little audacious to those who recall Pope's familiar dictum as to the impossibility of a faultless piece. In the absolute sense of the term, there is, of course, no perfect poem, because there is no perfect thing of any kind. But, as every art has its limitations, in whatsoever work the imperfections are caused by these limitations alone, the artist may fairly be said to have succeeded to perfection. On this principle the poems here collected have been chosen."—From Preface.

II.

RAGNAROK :

THE AGE OF FIRE AND GRAVEL. By IGNATIUS DONNELLY, author of "Atlantis: the Antediluvian World." Illustrated, 12mo, cloth, $2.

The title of the book is derived from the Scandinavian Sagas, or legends, and means "The Darkness of the Gods." The book advances the theory that the earth was once struck by a comet, and that the Drift, which geologists attribute to the action of glaciers, is the result of that catastrophe; and, further, that after the contact of the comet with the earth, came a succession of calamities of fire and flood and snow and ice, which destroyed nearly all the inhabitants. In support of this startling theory Mr. Donnelly has marshalled an immense amount of testimony from science, history, and legendary lore; and he has made, whatever else may be said, a most suggestive and singularly interesting volume.

III.

HEART OF STEEL.

A Novel. By CHRISTIAN REID. 16mo, cloth, $1.25.

"The best writer of fiction among American women."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HAVE JUST PUBLISHED:

THE GIFT OF GENTIANAS AND OTHER VERSES.

By MAY RILEY SMITH.

*With Illustrations by Wm. St. John Harper and Theo. Robinson.
Engraved by E. Heinemann.*

THE author is widely known by some of the poems in this volume. Those entitled "Tired Mothers," "If We Knew," "The Baby over the Way," and others, have long had a place in various poetical collections. All of the author's verses are of the quiet home order, and many of them are household words in various parts of the land. Their frequent republication in the newspapers of the country is one of the proofs of the author's power to touch the heart and hold her place in the long list of American Poets.

Small 4to, beautifully printed on superfine paper, with five small and 3 full-page illustrations; bound in cloth, gilt stamped sides and gilt edges, $2.50.

ORDERS FROM THE TRADE RESPECTFULLY SOLICITED.

IN OUR LAST

we mentioned a wide-awake bookseller. Now, we are sorry to say, wide-awake booksellers are scarce. They seem to have gone to sleep. Even their clerks behind the counters get dozy, and lose their vim. We had occasion to advertise recently for men who understand the book business, and we could not find one in the trade wide-awake enough for us. We had to go outside, among other branches of business. We are telling you this in confidence—between you and us. We pay Mr. Leyboldt for this Ad., and have a right to say what we please.

We have a line of Bibles that will wake up anybody, if properly pushed. Our line embraces more than ONE HUNDRED different styles. They are gems of beauty and attractiveness.

Our Bibles are superbly and profusely illustrated.

They contain helps to the proper understanding of the Word of God.

These helps are illustrated and extensive.

These helps are invaluable.

The idea of placing helps within the lids of the Bible originated with us. Our imitators may offer the semblance, but have not the substance. Our Bibles, therefore, though sold at the same or lower price, are more valuable.

And sell better.

For, besides, they are bound in elegant bindings, of entirely new and original designs.

Are these bindings also imitated?

Oh, yes.

But, then, we know a man who will originate more new designs for further imitation.

Meanwhile, our Bibles are the Bibles to influence Trade.

So are our miscellaneous books.

Anybody can reap a harvest from them if he tries.

And our Illustrated Catalogue explains it all.

SEASON 1882-1883.

Christmas and New Year Cards.

The previous success of our Cards, it is confidently expected, will be fully sustained, if not increased, this season, an expectation which is already verified by the large advance orders received, justifying our increased efforts to bring out a line superior to all our previous productions. Our line will again comprise Double and Fringed Cards, as well as Heavy Mounts. All the Fringed Cards will be provided with protectors, and envelopes will be furnished for all cards costing $1.80 and upward. The names of the artists who have contributed designs are a guarantee of the excellence of our Cards. We will name only the following: Miss L. B. Humphrey, Mrs. O. E. Whitney, Miss L. B. Comins, Alfred Fredericks, Walter Satterlee, Theo. Liebler, Miss F. Bridges, Miss Rosina Emmet, Thomas Moran, Alexander Sandier, R. G. Birch, Geo. J. Barnes, Miss Dora Wheeler, Miss Florence Taber, Frederick Dielman, Harry Beard, F. Schuyler Mathews, H. P. Kendall.

The literary matter in connection with our designs has been carefully attended to, among others, by Mrs. Celia Thaxter and Mrs. Emily Shaw Forman.
